Biographical Note

Wilson Emerson Schmidt, son of Emerson P. and Gertrude Wilson Schmidt, was born in Madison, Wisconsin, on March 22, 1927. He obtained a bachelor's degree at the University of Maryland in 1947, and a master's degree at the University of Pittsburgh the following year while working as a lecturer. In 1952, he earned a Ph. D. at the University of Virginia.

In 1950, Schmidt married Eleanor Butt Parker. (The couple would have three sons.) That same year Schmidt joined the Economics Department at George Washington University. He taught there until 1966, serving as chair of the department during his final year. He also served as visiting professor of economic development at Johns Hopkins in 1960, and at the Johns Hopkins Bologna Center (Italy) from 1963 to 1965. A specialist in economic development, Schmidt joined the Virginia Tech faculty as head of the Economics Department in 1966. He took leave to serve as deputy assistant secretary for research in the U.S. Dept. of the Treasury in 1970, establishing the department's research program. Two years later, he resumed his role as chair of Virginia Tech's Economics Department and continued to serve in the position until 1977. In 1981, President Reagan nominated Schmidt as the U.S. director of the World Bank. Before he could accept the position, Schmidt died, July 21, 1981.

Scope and Contents

This collection contains the professional papers of Wilson E. Schmidt, a professor of economics at Virginia Tech from 1966 to 1981 (department chair, 1966-1977), U. S. Dept. of Treasury deputy assistant secretary for research, and a specialist in economic development.

The collection contains correspondence, publications, manuscripts, speech texts, and copies of articles and reports by Schmidt and other economists, including Matthew B. Canzoneri, M.P. Dooley, Jeffrey A. Frankel, Guy V.G. Stevens, and Thomas Willett, and many others. Much of the collection consists of Schmidt's working subject files, particularly relating to externalities, under which are gathered such disparate topics as endangered species, narcotics, and outer space. These subject files contain reports, published materials, and correspondence. Some of these subjects, such as whales, also have separate folders elsewhere within the collection.

Arrangement

The collection is arranged in alphabetical order by file title, most of the file titles being original to the collection, and much of the collection retains Schmidt's original order. Many of the papers had been loose in their respective boxes when received. File titles for reports and articles within these items were derived from the titles of these items; folder titles for other loose materials were largely derived from Schmidt's original titles on other files.
