Conditions Governing Access

There are no restrictions on access to the directories in this series.

Conditions Governing Use

Because of the nature of this collection, copyright status might vary across the materials. Copyright is assumed to be held by the original creator of individual items; these items are expected to pass into the public domain 120 years after their creation. The University may grant permission to publish or reproduce intellectual property that it owns in the name of The Rector and Visitors of the University of Virginia.

Immediate Source of Acquisition

The directories came to the Arthur J. Morris Law Library from various sources. When the source of a single directory or group of directories is known, archivists include that information in the finding aid inventory.

Scope and Contents

This is a collection of print and digital directories that list the faculty, staff, students, and alumni of the University of Virginia School of Law. It contains the following series of materials:

Alumni Directories of the University of Virginia School of Law (1940-2005)

Directory of the Faculty and Students of the University of Virginia (1942-1943)

Directory of the Law School, University of Virginia (1947-1973)

Faculty Directories of the University of Virginia School of Law (1974, 1982-2000)

Graduate Studies Directories, University of Virginia School of Law (1998-2012)

Law School Telephone Directories, University of Virginia (1998-2020)

University of Virginia Telephone Directories (2002-2014)

Online Faculty, Staff, and Department Directories of the University of Virginia School of Law (2003-2026)

Photograph Directories of the University of Virginia School of Law (2010-2024)

Related Materials

During the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, the University of Virginia published lists of law faculty, staff, and students in the University of Virginia general and School of Law catalogs.

Conditions Governing Access

There are no restrictions on access to the alumni directories.

Conditions Governing Use

The University of Virginia Law School Foundation published the alumni directories and they own the copyright to them. However, under U.S. copyright law, earlier editions may now be in the public domain.

Immediate Source of Acquisition

The Arthur J. Morris Law Library transferred the alumni directories to its archive at various times before 2024.

Scope and Contents

The University of Virginia School of Law Foundation produced comprehensive directories of Law School alumni, and widely distributed them among the alumni. They generally list names, addresses, graduating years, and occupations. Alumni are often sorted using alphabetical order, geographic location, and graduating year. The 1962 and 1972 editions list both living and deceased alumni. The other directories list only living alumni.

Many directories also list the names of Foundation officers and Law School faculty.

Conditions Governing Access

There are no restrictions on access to the faculty directories.

Conditions Governing Use

The University of Virginia owns the copyright to the items in this series.

Immediate Source of Acquisition

Staff members at the Arthur J. Morris Law Library collected the faculty directories. The Library transferred them to the archive in 2024.

Scope and Contents

The first faculty directory in this series dates from the 1974-1975 academic year. It contains the names and short biographies of University of Virginia School of Law faculty and it was produced for a small internal audience.

The subsequent directories, dating from 1983 to 2000, provide more substantial information about School of Law faculty, adjuncts, and administration. They include extended biographies, photographs, and letters from the School's Dean. Unlike the directory from 1974-1975, these later resources were designed for wide distribution among Law School faculty, students, alums, staff, and supporters. Every few years, the University of Virginia published complete directories and distributed supplemental printings to profile new faculty hired in the years between publications.

Conditions Governing Access

There are no restrictions on access to the items in this series.

Conditions Governing Use

The University of Virginia owns the copyright to content in these directories that has not yet entered the public domain.

Immediate Source of Acquisition

Xinh Luu, Librarian for International, Foreign, and Comparative Law at the Arthur J. Morris Law Library, collected these directories during the course of her work. She transferred them to the Library's archive in March 2024.

Scope and Contents

This series consists of paper directories dating from 1998 to 2011. They list the names of LL.M. candidates, S.J.D. candidates, and scholars-in-residence at the University of Virginia School of Law. Portrait photographs and short biographies are usually included with the names listed in the directories.

Conditions Governing Access

There are no restrictions on access to the online directories.

Conditions Governing Use

The University of Virginia produced the directories in this series. The copyright status of each of these items is unknown, either the University owns the copyright to them, or they are in the public domain.

Immediate Source of Acquisition

At different dates, staff members at the Arthur J. Morris Law Library downloaded directory data from the Law School website, created paper and/or digital copies, and transferred them to the Library's archive.

Scope and Contents

The University of Virginia School of Law published faculty, staff, and department directories on its public website. The online directories provide lists of names, titles, and contact information. Many versions of them also include photographs, biographies, and department affiliations.

The items in this series are representations of the online directories. Early versions of the online directory were printed onto paper and archived into this series. Later versions are preserved as born-digital objects.

Appraisal

The online directories originally existed as a series of web pages. Archivists strive to capture the directories in a state close to how they would have appeared to users when it was live. However, to overcome technological limitations and to allow for sustainable preservation, archivists made appraisal decisions that resulted in the creation of archived resources that might function and look different from the originals.

When using copies of the online directories, researchers should know that they are not identical to the originals. They are close representations shaped by the appraisal decisions of archivists.

The University of Virginia produced the directories in this series. The copyright status of each of these items is unknown, either the University owns the copyright to them, or they are in the public domain.

Immediate Source of Acquisition

Archivists at the University of Virginia Law Library annually capture the photograph directory from the Law School's Intranet.

Scope and Contents

The University of Virginia School of Law made this directory available to its faculty, staff, and students on the School's Intranet platform. It is divided into graduating classes, and the students in each class are listed in alphabetical order according to their last names. Low-resolution portrait photographs of most of the students are included in the directory.

The digital files in this series are representations of the original student photograph directories.

Appraisal

The student photograph directory originally existed as a series of web pages. Archivists strive to capture the directory in a state close to how it would have appeared to users when it was live. However, to overcome technological limitations and to allow for sustainable preservation, archivists made appraisal decisions that resulted in the creation of archived resources that might function and look different from the originals.
