Biographical/Historical Information

Emily Couric (1947-2001) was elected to the Virginia Senate in 1995 and 1999, representing the 25th Senate District of the Commonwealth of Virginia, consisting of Charlottesville, Albemarle County, Madison County, Green County, and parts of Nelson County and Orange County. Couric also served as the Chairwoman of the Democratic Party of Virginia, and was preparing for a campaign for lieutenant governor in 2001 when she was diagnosed with cancer.

She served on the boards of several organizations, including the Jefferson Area Board for the Aging, Boys & Girls Club, Camp Holiday Trails and the Sustainability Council for the Thomas Jefferson Planning District, as well as chairman of the Charlottesville School Board, where she served for six years.

Couric began her career as a high school biology teacher in Cambridge, Massachusetts (1969-1971) and worked for the U.S. Department of the Interior, Fish & Wildlife Service (1971-1973), the U.S. Department of Labor (1974-1978), and as a reporter for Legal Times, Washington, D.C. (1979-1981). Until she began her service in the Virginia Senate, she worked as a writer, publishing in a variety of law-related and general interest publications. She also published two books with St. Martin's Press pertaining to the law, The Trial Lawyers and Divorce Lawyers.

She was born in Atlanta, Georgia, on June 5, 1947, and moved to Virginia in 1951, graduating from Yorktown High School, Arlington, Virginia, in 1965. Couric attended Smith College and graduated in 1969, magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa. At the time of her death, she was married to Dr. George A. Beller and had two sons, Ray and Jeff, from a previous marriage.
