Abstract

Copies of maps drawn and painted with water colors by Robert Knox Sneden, a Union soldier who served for a time as a draughtsman making maps on the staff of the III Corps of Samuel P. Heintzelman. Although serving in the eastern theater of the Civil War, the 316 maps in the collection show Sneden's interest in documenting military campaigns, battles, and strategic terrain in most theaters of the conflict. An item-level listing of maps in the collection can be found in the scope and content note. The maps in this collection are digital copies, and are accessible via DVD (digital video disc). There is also a two page leaflet describing the collection.

Biographical / Historical

Robert Knox Sneden (1832, Nova Scotia - 1918) was a map-maker for the Union Army during the American Civil War. He was also a landscape painter, prolific illustrator, and memoirist.

Robert Sneden left Brooklyn in 1861 to enlist in the 40th New York Volunteer Infantry Regiment of the Army of the Potomac, serving as a quartermaster. From 12 January 1862 he served on Samuel P. Heintzelman's III Corps staff as a draughtsman making maps. He was later assigned to David B. Birney's Division, and then to the staff of general William H. French. On 27 November 1863 Sneden was captured by Confederate troops under Mosby. After incarceration in Libby Prison (where he caught typhoid fever) and Andersonville, he was exchanged on 11 December 1864.

After the war he transformed a number of his war time drawings into watercolors.

Scope and Contents

Digital copies of maps drawn and painted with water colors by Robert Knox Sneden, a Union soldier who served for a time as a draughtsman making maps on the staff of the III Corps of Samuel P. Heintzelman.
