Abstract

Records of West Virginia University's Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) chiefly contain student records from 1950 to 1954. These documents are arranged alphabetically according to student name, and include personal information as well as course and grade information and cadet grades. Permission of a curator is required to view these records. Collection also contains one folder of printed recruiting materials for the ROTC program from 1955 to 1960, including WVU ROTC student guides, general recruitment brochures, and an issue of the WVU Military Mountaineer newsletter from 1959.

Biographical / Historical

Although military training was part of the West Virginia University curriculum since the founding of the school in 1867, the first Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) unit was not installed until World War I. This first unit was established in 1916 and was followed by a Signal Corps unit in 1941 and an Air Force unit in 1946.
